

BUILDING A TRUSTED REPORTING FOUNDATION TOGETHER.

“Working closely with Harland Green, Ingrity partnered to bring structure and clarity to a critical but previously undocumented reporting process. Like many underwriting agencies, reporting had evolved organically, making it difficult to trace anomalies and fully trust outputs.

Together, we reverse-engineered historical reports, mapped complex data sources, and reconciled inconsistencies to establish a clear source of truth. This enabled the regeneration of accurate historical reports and the creation of a repeatable reporting framework.

As a result, Harland Green now has greater confidence in its reporting, with improved transparency and control. The next phase focuses on automation and documentation to ensure scalability and long-term efficiency.”
